Academy of Applied Arts, University of Rijeka
September 12 to September 14

Deadline to apply by CEEPUS network ADRIART.CE CIII-SI-0816-07-1920
15th of June 2019

The aim of the summer school, organized by the Academy of Applied Arts in Rijeka, would be twofold: 1) evaluating the very designation CCI (the extent to which it adequately covers all current artistic practices), and 2) the role of art institutions (academies, museums, galleries, engaged civil society organizations) in promoting sustainable creative and artistic practices.

Are we creating ephemeral art? Do we create from need or leisure? These and many other questions will initiate a critical review of the conceptual apparatus underlying CCI's, which we will have the opportunity to debate and intensively put into question with our practices over the course of three days among students and teachers from Nova Gorica, Belgrade, Budapest, Krakow.

Flying Academy / Krakow

Faculty of Intermedia, Jan Matejko University in Krakow

Deadline to apply by CEEPUS network ADRIART.CE CIII-SI-0816-07-1920
15th of June 2019

We will organize an Intermedia Flying Academy. This is a project-oriented situation and we are open to ideas to be realized. Each “atom” that is part of this structure is comprised of a nucleus of theme-providers (= usually teachers) and a few electrons (= usually students). The “elements” thus created interact freely. The groups (“atoms”) need not overlap in time, but they will use the same dedicated space in the Faculty of Intermedia. Additionally, the work will be saved incrementally on a project website. Each stay has to be 21 days long (for students). For faculty timing, please see your NCO.
